

Neil Thomas

Fellow, Chinese Politics

Asia Society Policy Institute's Center for China Analysis

Neil Thomas is a Fellow on Chinese Politics at Asia Society Policy Institute's Center for China Analysis, where he co-leads the Decoding Chinese Politics project and studies elite politics, political economy, and foreign policy.

Previously, he was a Senior Analyst at Eurasia Group, a Senior Research Associate at MacroPolo, and a lecturer at the University of Chicago's Harris School of Public Policy. He is regularly interviewed by prominent media outlets and writes for leading publications on China.

He holds a Master in Public Policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University, a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Western Australia, and certificates from Renmin University, Tsinghua University, and Zhejiang University.